

SUPER POWER

The newest million-dollar Arab supercar: Fenyr SuperSport

Launched at Dubai International Motor Show this month, the Fenyr SuperSport is the second production car from Dubai-based W Motors. The debut Lykan Hypersport was specifically made for car collectors around the world combining elegance and aggressive design, while the Fenyr was engineered purely for "performance, power and speed" according to Ralph Debbas, CEO of W Motors. A limited edition of 25 per year and powered by a specially made RUF engine made in Germany, the Fenyr will deliver 1,000-plus horsepower and can reach an impressive 0-100kmph in less than 2.6 seconds.

While the W Motors styling cues are apparent, there are noticeable differences in aesthetics between the Fenyr and Lykan, especially in the width of the car, the air vents and the integration of innovative elements to give it such an extreme look.

Fans of the SuperSport will have to wait at least one year for the first production car, as it's just the styling prototype that has been released so far but we for one cannot wait to get a test drive in the new Fenyr.

Starting from $1.85 million

